and will be in Janesville June 10.
They left here Sunday and will go first to La Crosse, to attend a con-there next Tuesday, June 9, for the purpose of uniting with the National Alliance as one working body. After the meetings in La Crosse and Janesville they will proceed to Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Pennsylvania, New Jerings have been arranged by the alliance leaders.President Polk says: "Every state in the Union will be actively canvassed by the talent in the alliance, in the way of speakers, lecturers and canvassers, who will fully explain the objects of the alliance and what will be asked in the way of state and national legislation." President Polk has arranged through his forty state alliance presidents to have mass meetings at several points in each of the forty states during the next four months. He will have hundreds of speakers at work at the same time throughout the entire union, educating as he says, the masses to the alliance cause before the meeting of the Forty-second congress.

BOUND FOR GREENLAND.

Departure of Lieut. Peary's Arctic Exploring Expedition.NEW YORK, June 8.—Saturday a number of scientific men gathered at the foot of Baltic street, Brooklyn, to see the steamer Kite depart for Greenland with Lieut. Robert E. Peary's party, which goes to explore the arctic regions. Conspicuous on the deck of the vessel was Mrs.
Peary, wife of the lieutenant, whose name will go down to history as the first woman explorer of the arctic region. The Kite sails under the auspices of the Philadelphia academy of natural sciences, the American geographical society, and the National geographical society. Its mission is to explore and define the unknown north coast of Greenland, and also to explore as far as possible the west coast and the interior. Upon reaching Greenland the expedition will divide into two sections.
Prof. Angelo Heilprin, the Philadelphia geologist, will lead one party through western Greenland, while Lieut. Peary, accompanied by his plucky little wife, will take charge of the other party bound for northern Greenland. In the autumn, if all goes well, they will meet again and compare notes. The scientist will then return to this country, but Lieut. and Mrs. Peary on the good ship Kite will spend the winter in Greenland, as it is their intention to renew their exploration next year. Among the other members of the party are Prof. Benjamin Sharp and J. F. Holt, zoologists, of Philadelphia; Dr. W. E.
Hughes, ornithologist, of Washington; Dr. W. H. Burk, botanist, of Philadelphia; L. W. Mengel, entomologist, of Philadelphia; and Dr. Robert N.
Keeley, surgeon, of Philadelphia.

time and passed by a vote of 105 poisoned by the defendant, was again on the stand in the Zoldeisky murder veloped that the attending physician been poisoned until the autopsy was held.

pended Saturday night.

CAUGHT BADLY.

Mr. Wanamaker Suffers by the Keystone Bank Failure.PHILADELPHIA, June 8.—Startling revelations are expected this week in the Keystone bank suspension. Postmaster General John Wanamaker has been charged with having been instrumental in closing the bank. It is expected to be shown that while Wanamaker used the bank as a convenience the rascally bankers, the dead President Lucas and the fugitive President Marsh, unloaded on him $200,000 worth of overvalued stock. Wanamaker got financially tight and the bank came to his rescue, loaning him within sixteen months as high as $150,000. Last December Wanamaker repaid all his loan, depositing on one day $58,000 in cash.Now, for the other side. Within the last two years the Keystone bank managers needed money to tide over their troubling concern. They borrowed at various times $200,000 from Wanamaker and gave him notes with bogus stock pinned to them. On the 19th of May last Marsh confessed to Wanamaker that his stock was bogus. The same night he confessed the story to Comptroller Lacey. The next day the bank was closed and Wanamaker is $200,000 out of pocket.It is understood that Postmaster General Wanamaker will appear before the committee to-day and answer any questions that may be put to him with reference to his knowledge of Keystone bank affairs.It is said that the experts examining Bardsley's affairs have in their possession all of his check books, canceled check and private accounts, and will thus be able to trace all of the missing state and city funds. District Attorney Graham will to-day present to the grand jury bills of indictment against Bardsley charging him with the embezzlement of $30,000 of city money and over $900,000 belonging to the state. The charge of perjury in violating his oath of office will be dropped for the reason that no record of his having been sworn in can be found in the prothonotary's office, where it should be on file had he been sworn. The opinion is general that Bardsley on entering upon the duties of the office of city treasurer did not take an oath to faithfully administer the affairs of that office. Whether the omission was intentional or accidental will probably never be definitely known.PHILADELPHIA, June 8.—The mayor has announced a reward of $5,000 for the arrest and conviction of Gideon W.
Marsh for alleged violation of law while acting as president of the Keystone national bank.

ITALY SHAKEN UP.

An Earthquake Destroys Many Houses and Kills Several Persons.ROME, June 8.—The cities of Verona and Mantua were shaken by an earthquake Sunday. Many houses were damaged. An invalid lady was so badly frightened by the shock that she died. Lombardy, Venetia and part of Tuscany were visited early in the morning by repeated shocks. The worst shock occurred about 2 o'clock in the morning. Shocks were also felt in Venice and Milan.
The center of the disturbance was at Verona. A subterranean noise was heard like the roar of artillery, which was followed by three strong shocks. The inhabitants rushed into the streets in terror. At Marone three persons were killed and at Badia Calavena seventeen were badly injured by falling houses and chimneys. At the latter place another shock was felt at 6 o'clock in the morning, and much additional damage was done. The movements were undulating in character and were more or less over the whole of the north of Italy.

HIGHLY INDIGNANT.

Chilian Rebels Think the United States Should Not Take the Itata's Arms.LIQUIGUE, June 8.—There is great excitement here over the decision of the American admiral to take the Itata without allowing the discharge of her arms and ammunition. The press is very bitter and considers that the United States, the cradle of republican ideas, commits a grave error in thus indirectly assisting the dictator.WASHINGTON, June 8.—Information has been received in this city from Chili to the effect that the insurgent schooner Itata, before proceeding to Iquique from Tocopilla, landed at the latter place 5,000 rifles and a large amount of supplies.

Capture of an Illinois Defaulter.

ALTON, Ill., June 8.—The commissioners of Wood River township have received a telegram from the sheriff at Portland, Ore., to the effect that Peter Greenwood, the missing township treasurer, is under arrest in that city.
The necessary papers for his return here have been forwarded. Greenwood's total shortage now foots up over $7,500.

Acquitted.

LEBANON, Ind., June 8.—The jury in the case of Mont Mabbett, who was charged with having murdered his sister Minnie's child on the 19th of last November, brought in a verdict of not guilty. The utmost interest was manifested in the outcome of the case and the courthouse was crowded daily with spectators.

Murder in Youngstown, O.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., June 8.—Mrs. John Booker, aged 46, wife of a colored barber, was found murdered Sunday morning in a shed near her home. Although there have been several arrests, there is no positive clew. It is supposed the crime was committed early in the evening.

NOT STRONG ON THE BIBLE.

A St. Louis paper has made the chief executive of its city a target for jibes by its test with the decalogue. A squad of reporters were sent to the gathering of the most intelligent business forces on 'change at the gathering to receive the mayor and other notables from New Orleans. Each was furnished with cards containing the ten commandments without numbers and not in proper order, and the test was to affix the numbers. That would seem an easy thing for one who had ever been in a Sunday school, or had a very small acquaintance with the Scriptures. Out of the hundreds who attempted the feat only about a dozen made a success of it. The New Orleans mayor had nine of the ten wrong, and the St. Louis executive did not get one of them correct. Most of them had an idea that the short ones were toward the end, but could only guess at the order. St. Louis and New Orleans are not probably average communities in Biblical and religious attainments, but it is believed that there is a falling away of late years in accurate knowledge of the Bible. A generation ago the intelligent man who could repeat the ten commandments was not in the majority.

MIGHT HAVE BARRED MR. MADDOO

Mr. Maddoo, who told Janesville people a number of interesting things about Wisconsin politics last year, gives to the public through "The Forum" his views on immigration, and somewhat curious views they are. The protective tariff, he thinks, must be a failure unless it excludes by some process not yet discovered foreign labor as well as the product of foreign labor. The people who come here to work, he thinks, are exceedingly undesirable. Why he should now endeavor to deny to others the blessings which he has enjoyed his article does not make entirely clear. Persons who are in great need, and have only their labor to depend upon for their support, do indeed come in large numbers from other parts of Europe, but that has also been the case with a good many immigrants from Ireland, who have turned out useful citizens, as Mr. Maddoo will admit. It can hardly be said at this late day that an immigrant can be of no use to this country as a laborer or as a citizen if he brings hither nothing but his industry.

COL. LIVINGSTON'S CLEVER WAY.

Colonel Livingston, of Georgia, is not only a member of the 51st congress, but he is president of the Georgia Alliance. This colonel said at the Cincinnati convention, where he opposed the formation of a new party.
 "The south is not yet ready; wait until 1892, and we will be with you. We are really third-party men, and want to destroy the democratic party, but the time has not yet come to make it known." That was a very choice and charming way of putting this to the northern members of the convention who had some republican sympathies. Now what is to prevent any one who listened to that, from suspecting that Colonel Livingston would go back to Georgia and say to his democratic friends there:
 "We must use some hypocrisy and I did that with those fellows up at Cincinnati."

THE ROCKFORD MESSIAH DID NOT FLEE.

At his Illinois town, legal efforts to break up the nests of George Jacob Schweinfurth have failed, and it seems that even in the less conservative Kansas City he has also been able to restrain in the expression of the populace. If he did not make any supernatural display of power at Kansas City when the spiritually alien client gave him twenty-four hours to leave the place in, he did not meekly flee. He recognized the temporal powers, and secured the protection of the police. The Rockford messiah furnishes a more difficult subject for repression than the polygamy of Utah, as no legal evidence is to be had of any violation at his instance of civil or moral law.

TARIFF "RESTRICTS" FARMERS' MARKETS.

An interesting showing how the McKinley tariff is "restricting" the farmers' foreign market is given in the monthly reports of exports and imports. Here is the report last made:
 Total exports of beef, hog and dairy products for month ending April 30 (under the new law).....$ 8,506,000 For same month last year.....9,570,700
 Gain under McKinley law.....$ 1,064,700
 Total exports of beef, hog and dairy products for four months ending April 30 (under new law).....$44,348,000 For same period last year.....42,148,000
 Gain under McKinley law.....$ 2,199,000

Newspapers never become so well established as to survive bad management. The Anoka Republican, the leading and most prosperous paper in Nebraska a decade or so ago, died of malpractice. Recently the Alta California, the oldest paper in San Francisco, has suspended because it fell in the rear and was squeezed to death.

The most harrowing accounts are being raked up about what the farmers are going to do when they get in power. The American farmer has generally shown himself to be a very level-headed sort of man, and no one need worry over the use he will make of any power that falls in his hands.

ROYALTY IS ON TRIAL.

Real Secret of the Interest in the Baccarat Case—England's Gambling Vice.
 LONDON, June 8.—The baccarat scandal overshadows everything else. Gossip is rife about the obligations of the prince of Wales to Arthur Wilson. It is reported that his royal highness is indebted to him to the amount of £200,000 borrowed money. While the prince of Wales' connection with the affair and his behavior in court have not impaired his popularity, there is no doubt that among serious and thoughtful men who have their country's interest at heart the scandal has cast a shadow on the throne, and the frivolous pursuits of the heir, so broadly revealed in the trial, have not tended to strengthen his reputation. The queen continues to take an interest bordering on anxiety in the case and receives complete reports of the trial as it progresses. No one feels more acutely than her majesty that in a measure royalty in England is on trial and anything that tends to impair respect for it is dangerous. What mortification she may feel at the exhibition of her eldest son as a banker in a game of cards, carrying around his own counters, is confined to the royal breast, for she is not in the habit of expressing her feelings on such matters.

CANADA MOURNS.

Grief in the Dominion Over Sir John Macdonald's Death.

OTTAWA, Ont., June 8.—Sir John Macdonald, premier of the dominion, died Saturday night at 10:15. He never rallied from unconsciousness and passed quietly away. The hope that his consciousness and ability to take nourishment and sleep until Friday night would lead to the absorption of the clot of blood resulting from the original hemorrhage of the brain, and ultimately by reason of his immense vitality to complete recovery was dashed Friday afternoon. The bulletin sent out by the attendant physician, Dr. Powell, at early morning, announced that there was no change worthy of comment to be discerned in his patient's condition and that he had passed a night of heavy sleep. At the urgent request of Sir John's relatives and of the members of parliament Dr. George Ross, an eminent specialist from McGill university of Montreal, was called to a consultation with Drs. Powell, Sir James Grant and Wright. Dr. Ross reached Ottawa from Montreal and was driven to Earncliffe from the station, where he met the Ottawa doctors, and the four went at once to the premier's bedside. They were closeted with the patient an hour and three-quarters, at the end of which time they returned with a bulletin to the effect that his hours of life were steadily waning. This bulletin put an end to the hopes that have been prevalent ever since it became apparent that Sir John's seizure was not to carry him off immediately.

SIR JOHN MACDONALD.

At 7 o'clock the following bulletin was issued by Dr. Powell: "Sir John Macdonald became unconscious about 4 p. m. His end is fast approaching." The loss of consciousness was manifestly the beginning of the end. The bulletin was posted in the lobbies of the house but the house resumed the debate upon Sir Charles Tupper. All Ottawa seemed to have gathered upon Parliament hill as the place where news of Sir John's condition could be soonest learned.

Down at Earncliffe in the bed-chamber where the chief was feebly fighting the battle so soon to be decided, Lady Macdonald sat by her dying husband's side. The rules of the sick room were relaxed for a time, and the members of Sir John's family were called to the side of the death bed. But no sign came from the dying man, and nothing but his faint, irregular breathing and the feeble beating of his heart told that he still lived. So he lay and waited, and which came quietly about 10:15 o'clock p. m. when Dr. Powell, who was sitting at the bedside, his hand on the patient's pulse, looked up and said, with quivering voice: "The end has come. He has passed away without a single struggle." The sad news was flashed over the wire to the house of commons. Those who surrounded the bedside of the chief during his last moments were Lady Macdonald, Hugh John Macdonald, Mary Macdonald, the only daughter of the dead chief, John A. Macdonald, his grand son, and a relative of the family, and Joseph Pope and Fred White, his secretaries.

The remains of the dead leader were embalmed Sunday morning. The casket in which the remains will be interred was made in West Meriden, Conn. It is of rolled steel and is painted a beautiful rose color. The massive handles consist of solid bars of oxidized silver and extend along both sides of the coffin. On the lid are three large silver figures emblematic of the flight of time in white silk. The outside of the casket is made of solid oak and also displays heavy silver handles. The official programme of the funeral arrangements is as follows: The body will be privately moved from Earncliffe to the parliament buildings and will lie in state there from 10 o'clock Tuesday morning till the hour of the funeral. The state funeral will leave the parliament buildings at 1 o'clock p. m. Wednesday for St. Alban's church and thence to the Canadian Pacific railway station, whence the body will be conveyed to Kingston. The body will lie in state at the city hall in Kingston, until Thursday noon, when the interment will take place.

Queen Victoria cabled from Balmora to the governor general that she was deeply pained to learn of Sir John's death, which she regarded as a great loss to Canada and the sovereign. Her majesty extended her hearty sympathy to Lady Macdonald in her bereavement. Other dispatches have also been received from Lord Salisbury.

THEY WANTED THE TEACHER'S LIFE.

TERRIBLE SLAUGHTER.

LONDON, June 8.—Advice from St. Petersburg say the schoolmaster of the Tersk district has, by his liberal ideas and teachings, excited the religious frenzy of the peasant inhabitants of the district, as they saw in him a power which they considered inimical to the conservative views they had been taught and the interests they deemed their duty to protect. They accordingly held a meeting and as a result they dug a mine under the schoolhouse, and during the morning session when the room was filled with children they proceeded to explode it, with the result that a tremendous explosion ensued and the building was completely wrecked. The noise at once attracted a crowd and busy hands soon set to work to bring the wounded and dead children from the ruins. The scene was pitiable in the extreme, strong men breaking down like their wives and daughters when the corpse of some little creature more horribly mangled than the others was brought out by tender hands. It was found that ten children had been killed outright and twelve others have been seriously wounded. Some of these it is feared will not be able to survive the injuries received. By a curious coincidence the schoolmaster against whom the whole affair was plotted and whom it was sought to remove escaped unhurt. The fanatics believed he alone would be killed, but they mistook the position in which his chair was placed, as well as the strength of the powder they had placed in the mine. Their stupidity, therefore, has resulted in this fearful slaughter.
